TRUSTEES' REPORT

Citizens of Peabody:

The Trustees of the Peabody Institute present herewith the sixty-seventh annual report of the administration of the trust reposed in them, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1918.

The duties of the Trustees have been performed with fidelity and promptness. The detailed reports of the various officers and committees are appended and should have the careful perusal of the citizens.

The responsibilities devolving upon the secretary and treasurer have been discharged with credit to themselves and loyalty to the institution.

The Librarian, Mr. Keefe, continues his faithful and courteous service and has responded patriotically to the additional duties entailed by the war.

The death, early in the year, of the late John D. McKeen for so many years the faithful and devoted custodian of the Peabody Institute necessitated the appointment of a successor in this important position. The Trustees feel that in the choice of J. Murray Wilson they have made a wise selection already justified by his first year of painstaking and efficient service.

To all who are familiar with modern library needs it is painfully apparent that our institution is poorly equipped to house properly its valuable contents and serve the public in an up-to-date manner. Discussion and plan for the remedy of these conditions was begun three years ago; but they had to be set aside on account of the war.

Now that peace seems assured a committee of the Trustees has been appointed to consider and present plans for a fire-proof stack room, fire-proofing the Sutton Reference Library, a children's reading room, the remodeling of the service room and the installation of an adequate lighting system. The carrying out of such plans would be, we feel sure, in harmony with the aims of Mr. George Peabody whose wise and farseeing generosity provided funds for just such emergencies.

The Trustees feel that they rendered the city a distinct service when, after the report of a landscape architect who thoroughly examined the situation, they voted not to permit the placing of the Soldiers' Monument on the Institute property.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT WALKER,

For the Trustees.

TREASURER'S REPORT

Peabody, Mass., Dec. 31, 1918.

Trustees Peabody Institute:

Attached herewith you will find my report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1918. You will observe that the market value of securities reflects a depreciation in value in comparison with book values. This is due to the unsettled economic conditions brought about by the war. Our investments mainly consist of "long term" bonds on which the security is unimpaired, as near as can be determined, even under the present trying conditions.

Our securities are paying interest excepting the following:

$1,000.00 Boston & Maine R. R. 4's 1944: Interest has been defaulted on this bond since Jan. 1, 1917. The road is in Receiver's Hands and proceedings relative to same are pending in the courts.

$5,000.00, 28th and 29th St. R. R. Crosstown, New York 5's on which interest has not been paid since April 1908. The Bondholders' Committee have received final payment on the Third Avenue Note of $250,000.00 on which we realize $220.00 per bond. There is at present action pending against the New York Street Railway Co. on the foreclosure of the bond issue. It is a question as to the ultimate results of this action.

The Rio Grande & Western R. R. defaulted interest in April. We collected the April and October interest in December. This road is part of the Denver & Rio Grande System. The non-payment of interest was caused temporarily through readjustment on account of the Government taking control of the railroads.

Proceedings on the estate of Eben T. Osborn have been brought to a close and distribution of same will be made in accordance with the provisions of the will.

Would bring to your attention an over-draft on the General Fund of $1,129.00, which shows conclusively that the income from this fund will not accomplish what it has in the past, owing to the prevailing high price of all commodities, and is not sufficient for the maintenance of the plant. We will therefore be obliged to draw on the Reserve Fund more than in the past, until such time as a readjustment of prices occurs.

During the year the following securities matured:

Reserve Fund, 1 City of Yonkers 5's.

Reserve Fund, 3 Brooklyn Rapid Transit 5% Notes.

Our purchases were as follows:

Reserve Fund, 2 Pennsylvania R. R. Gen. Mtg. 4½'s

Reserve Fund, 1 Cincinnati Gas & Elec. Co., 1st Mtg. 5's

Reserve Fund, 1 U. S. Liberty Bond, 1928 4 1-4's

Reserve Fund, 2 City of Spokane 4 1-4's

Reserve Fund, 1 Detroit Edison, 1st Ref. 5's

Eben Dale Sutton General Fund $500.00 U. S. Liberty Bond, 4th Loan, 4 1-4's

Eben Dale Sutton Building Fund $500.00 U. S. Liberty Bond, 4th Loan, 4 1-4's

Eben Dale Sutton Building Fund $1,000.00 N. Y. Telephone Gen. Mtg. 4½'s

From the foregoing you will see we purchased $5000.00 in Bonds with accumulated surplus funds.

Respectfully,

JOHN J. GALLAGHER,

Treasurer.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

To the Trustees of the Peabody Institute:

Gentlemen:—I transmit herewith the reports of the Librarians and of the Sub-Committees of the Lyceum and Library Committee. They present in full the work of the Institute for the year ending December 31, 1918.

Respectfully submitted,

J. W. HUDSON,

Chairman, Lyceum and Library Committee.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Report of the Peabody Library Committee for the year ending December 31, 1918.

A year of great events is now closing. A year that will leave its impress on the world for all time. The great world war, now happily ended, has not been without its influence on Library work. Readers have been less interested in fiction and have given more thought to serious reading, and even religious publications have been in greater demand.

The call of our Country that brought four millions of men to the defence of the American Flag, impressed the people with the serious and changed conditions that confront a nation engaged in war, and the topography of the countries at war, and their history became subjects of special interest to them. Book stores that have been crowded with works of fiction, have, during the past year, found it profitable to exhibit a better class of reading.

The work of our Library was somewhat affected by the enforced closing of the Institute at two periods during the year. First in Spring on account of the shortage of fuel, and later during the prevalence of the influenza epidemic. With the exception of these periods of about a month, the patronage of the Library was well sustained.

The drive in the publication of war books was evident at each monthly meeting, but only a limited number proved acceptable. When the brave deeds of our American soldiers whose valor made the world safe for Democracy are written, our Library, and every American library will give space and preference to every publication that does them justice.

The history making period of the war which is of most interest to Americans, did not begin until near the middle of the present year, and consequently we have no books yet published that does justice to the great work of our American soldiers. The Old Guard of Napoleon under the eye and inspiration of the great Corsican never performed more heroic deeds, than the Americans who carried the Stars and Stripes to victory on the battle fields of France. They proclaimed and demonstrated that the American Flag never retreats. They saved mankind from military oppression, and abolished forever the theory of the divine right of Kings. The American citizen soldier has won his place in history, and no tribute of his most ardent admirer can add a cubit to his stature.

The efforts of the Librarian to keep the Reading room quiet and orderly has had the effect of largely increasing the attendance. Patrons, particularly the younger people, now realize that the Reading room is a place of study, and not designed for amusement.

Your Committee has endeavored to provide the Library with the best productions in all the classes of publications suitable for a circulating Library, and many interesting books will be found in the additions of the past year.

Owing to the great demand for labor during the Summer, the Librarian's assistants found remunerative employment in the factories, and left the Librarian to provide for the needs of the Library with his assistants absent.

It may be necessary in the near future to provide a permanent assistant, to prevent a recurrence of these conditions.

In the death of Mr. McKeen, which occurred during the year, the Peabody Institute lost a valuable and conscientious official, one who had won the respect and esteem of every patron of the Library. Mr. James M. Wilson who was elected to succeed Mr. McKeen, is proving a capable successor.

The Librarian has accomplished great work in the collection of books and magazines for the Camp Libraries. He has also taken an active and leading part in all the campaigns that were conducted to provide for the successful prosecution of the war.

For the Committee,

P. H. O'CONOR,

REPORT OF THE LYCEUM COMMITTEE

To the Library and Lyceum Committee of the Peabody Institute:

The Lyceum Committee respectfully present their report for the year 1918.

Your Committee presented a course for seven evenings and one afternoon for school pupils.

April 24—Hon. Jos. A. Conry, Russian Consul, subject: "Russia's Future." A very timely subject, finely treated and delivered to about 250 interested listeners.

April 29—Mr. Pitt Parker, crayon artist, clay modeller, and lecturer. Evening for adults, afternoon for school pupils. Both sessions were very well attended especially the afternoon by interested and pleased audiences estimated attendance at both sessions 1,000.

May 23—Miss Grace Sage, dramatic reader, in the interesting play "Romance." Assisted by Grace Hershon O'Brien, soprano soloist, who gave pleasing numbers between the acts of the play. A well pleased audience of about 500 were in attendance.

May 27—The King Marshal Musical Co., readings, bell-ringing, and other instruments gave a fine exhibition before a large enthusiastic audience estimated 600.

September 19—Miss Charlotte Maloney, violinist, assisted by Miss Clark, soprano soloist, and reader, presented a fine entertaining and instructive program before a large and well pleased audience. Miss Maloney's wonderful playing especially captivating the audience estimated over 600.

October 22—Miss Margaret Reinick, dramatic reader, assisted by Miss Marie Kelliher, soprano soloists, held an audience of over 600 in delightful mood throughout the very pleasing play: "Prince Chap." Both artists receiving their full share of applause from the large audience.

November 18—The Pierce's gave one of their specially pleasing and instructive entertainments to a full house who showed their appreciation in many ways.

Your Committee believe that they are safe in claiming that the Lyceum Course of 1918 has been the best in attendance, and pleased audience for a number of years. Your Committee by securing good instructive entertaining talent and hard work in advertising with limited funds have succeeded in bringing the Lyceum Course back to something like what it was when there were no counter attractions taking place to attract people from it, and your Committee will use their best efforts in the future to have standing room only, either in gallery, or auditorium floor.

For the Committee,

GEORGE A. CLIFFORD,

Chairman.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

To the Lyceum and Library Committee:

I submit the following report for the year ending December 31, 1918:

The circulation has held up remarkably well, considering the distractions of the world war and the influenza epidemic. The total circulation for the year would undoubtedly have shown a substantial increase if conditions had not made it imperative that the library be closed 12 days in February on account of the coal situation and also 19 days in October on account of the influenza epidemic. Perhaps the most noteworthy feature of the circulation has been the increased demand for non-fiction, showing a marked tendency toward the more serious literature.

Another gratifying feature has been the increased patronage of the reading room, both by adults and by school children. The increased use of the reading room strengthens my belief that steps should be taken, as soon as finances and building conditions warrant, for the installation of a separate reading room for children.

The plan of having a delivery station in the post office at West Peabody has been given a fair trial, and the results have not been what were anticipated. The school children of that section of the city above the eighth grade are transported back and forth to the High School daily, and they prefer to come to the Library and take books away.

The Library has continued to co-operate with the American War Library Association in war activities. The city has made a most commendable record in this particular branch of work. In the campaign for funds for camp libraries in the fall of 1917, Peabody is reputed to have exceeded its allotment in greater proportion than any community in the State. In the collection of books for camp libraries, here and abroad, the Library has assisted, and hundreds of books and magazines have been sent to the camps through its efforts. The Library will continue to co-operate along these lines as long as there is any demand.

The Library has purchased a number of war books during the year, and also books on war thrift, war conservation and kindred subjects. Bulletins from the food and fuel administrations have been given publicity, and the Library has tried to co-operate in the fullest degree with all the governmental war agencies.

With the end of the war in sight, the Library will strive to strengthen its efforts in Americanizing the citizens of foreign birth. Owing to the war it has been impossible to secure new books in foreign languages, but this condition will unquestionably be remedied with the signing of a treaty of peace. Peabody has an unusually large population of foreign birth and presents a broad field for constructive work along these lines. A public library, through a sympathetic attitude, can be a potent factor in bringing these people into harmony with our institutions and our ideals of government.

The Library has continued its membership in the Library Art Club, and exhibitions have been given during the year.

I regret to record the death of Mr. John D. McKeen who served as janitor of the Library for 38 years. He was a conscientious and faithful servant, devoted to the Library and its work. Mr. James M. Wilson has been appointed to fill the vacancy and he has proven a worthy successor.

Statistics in the usual form are appended to this report.

In conclusion I wish to express my appreciation of the continued support and co-operation of your committee in striving to make the Library more serviceable to the people of the city.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN E. KEEFE,

Librarian.

REPORT OF THE EBEN DALE SUTTON REFERENCE LIBRARY FOR YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1918

Peabody, Mass. Jan. 4, 1919

Library and Lyceum Committee of Peabody, Mass.:

Gentlemen:—In submitting our report for the Eben Dale Sutton Library for the year ending December 31st, 1918, would say we have had as a whole a very quiet year, the conditions existing practically the same as our report for the year 1917.

The Library was closed more than usual on account of the coal situation and the influenza epidemic. We also closed one week on account of the condition of the floor, same being necessary while it was refinished. The work not being satisfactory to the committee caused it to be closed for another week, so the work could be done over.

Very few books were added to the Library during the year, noted as follows:

Catholic Encyclopedia and its Makers (To complete the set).

Ipswich in the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Nature Lovers' Library, 6 vols.

No rebinding was done this year as the prices for this work have been so very exorbitant, but in talking with the committee, we feel that it will be no mistake, if we have some of this work done through this coming year, as it does not look as if there would be, for some time to come, any reduction in prices for this class of work.

The report of the Librarian will be sent in as usual. I submit this respectfully for the committee.

JOHN E. FITZGERALD,

Chairman.
